Individual Licence

- An Individual licence is a single licence, which is licensed for use against a computer, within a single organisation and domain.
- A total of 1 to 9 Individual licences can be held. Purchases greater than nine are upgraded to an Enterprise licence.
- There is a restriction on the number of times the licences may be moved between devices within a calendar year.
- Additional licences purchased within a given year are prorated to the expiry date of the first licence to keep the renewal dates in line.
- Bulk licence discounts are applied on the purchase or renewal date of a licence.

Enterprise Licence

- An Enterprise licence is a companywide licence, which allows for unlimited installations and use of DocBuster within a single organisation and domain.

When purchasing licences, the full payment for the subscription length is required.
